Summary: (machine translated)
Lower part of the Ribeira di Gi. Water-bearing. 6 rappel, max. 21m.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Ribeira Grande on the coastal road in an easterly direction via Sinagoga and Vilha das Pombas we come after a downhill drive in two serpentines to the bridge over the here dry Pombas (directly at the sea, below a small settlement - up to here about 10 km from Rib. Grande, a good 2 km from Vilha das Pombas). From here a little more than a km and we come over the bridge that overarches the Gi. In front of us the Praia do Gi with a small village on the right of the road. At the bridge the approach begins.

Approach: (machine translated)
On the orographic right ridge we climb on a pleasant path. At forks we stay on the clearer path (orienting to the right in case of doubt). The path climbs steadily parallel to the Gi and passes through some side gullies. Passing under a long basalt wall we come up to a saddle with a thatched (2009) goat pen. From here we descend, at first gently, later steeply, until we reach the streambed with banana bushes.

Tour: (machine translated)
Access in banana oasis in the stream. 6 rappel, max. 21m.

Return: (machine translated)
From the water tank (bathing recommended) we go out to the sea and our starting point.
