Summary: (machine translated)
Also known as Ravin Nord d'Errozate, it is a vertiginous descent with rappels up to 60m, unknown, inhospitable, with facilities to check, a whole adventure terrain. In winter we can find snow and ice, in summer except for rainy periods it will be completely dry.
The openers continued along the Bco de Antsola to the starting trail, here we propose the exit (jabalinada) by the right slope of the Bco de Antsola.
To be completed

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We will go from Saint-Jean-Pied-de-Port
By the D18 via Mendive or by the D301 via Esterençuby towards the pass of Errozate, we park at the top, there is plenty of space right next to a camping forbidden panel.

Approach: (machine translated)
Leaving towards the north face of the Errozate and from there towards the cuttings, the stream to descend will be evident.

Tour:

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the Bco de Antsola we can continue, like the openers, or try the wild boar to go up on the right to the road.
