Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Nice descent with a first part more open with the 42m rappel and a second more boxy. Be careful in this part if the flow is high.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We must go to Bagnères-de-Bigorre.
From here by the D935 we go to Beaudean and here by the D29 to Lesponne, shortly after crossing it we leave behind the parking lot of the magenta waterfall and we find a forest road that enters the forest of Hourc. We follow it until the bridge over the Cérétou.

Approach: (machine translated)
Next to the bridge there is a path on the orographic left of the river that goes up until it crosses the river at 1350m. Here begins the lower part. We can continue climbing up to almost 1500m where we find the "névé du Cérétou" snowfield for the upper part.

Tour: (machine translated)
Two different parts separated by the track. The upper part from the snowfield with multiple projections and 3 rappels, one of them of 42m. The lower part with more rappels and a final part with a very good alpine atmosphere.

Return: (machine translated)
Immediate
