Summary: The "Turcinu Mare" Canyon is a technical canyon with a considerable flow. The tallest waterfall is 65 m, and navigating it in high water conditions is a real challenge.
Hydrology: You cannot judge the flow from the lower parking, a water pipe takes almost all the water 2/3 of the way down. You have to do the walk in to see the flow.
Access: 5km shuttle on a bad gravel road, needs a SUV.
Approach: Long uphill hike (with lovely views higher up) and long approach along a tree strewn river bed.
Tour: A beautiful central waterfall, where it is important to find the re-belay - well to the side on river left. All the water disappears 2/3 of the way down into a water pipe.
Return: Immediate. Final waterfall ends by the road.

2025-06-14   Cathy O'Dowd   ★★   📖   ⚓ ★★   🌊 Normal   🍷 Completed Lovely views on the hike. A beautiful central waterfall, where it is important to find the rebelay - well to the side on river left. Other than that it is a huge amount of walking, trees in the water course and minor rappels for one or two good features. We added a bolt below the pipeline and a tree anchor for the final waterfall.
