Summary: (machine translated)
Mountain hiking canyon with thermal spring and optional rappels

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We drive from the town of Karak on the "50" down to the Dead Sea. After 26.2 km we come to the T-junction "Mazra Junction", continue north on the "65" and after 25.4 km we pass the bridge over the Mujib and then after 34.7 km (from Mazra Junction) we come to the bridge over the Wadi ad Dab'i.
Coming from the north (Amman, Madaba), it is 12.5 km from the T-junction of the "65" with the road coming down from Madaba to the Wadi ad Dab'i.

Approach: (machine translated)
On the north side of the bridge directly into the wadi.

Tour: (machine translated)
In the wadi, a slight ascent up the stream. We come to a small lake (which was silted up in 2019), which is fed by a small waterfall. Temperatures near the waterfall reach 60° C. Now the ascent becomes steeper and we finally reach a small basin, where a further ascent over the next waterfall is reserved for climbers.
Alternatively, you can climb further up the stream from the waterfall. However, it is better to go down this passage with rappels.

Return: (machine translated)
Return on the approach route or in the stream (3 small rappels at the beginning)
