Summary: (machine translated)
The canyon was opened about twenty years ago (before the current ban) and is visible from Agordo State Road.

Hydrology:

Access:

Approach: (machine translated)
Ascent to an altitude of 660 m, you cross the Carbonere and from here you can start the descent of the lower section.
After the ford, keep left at the crossroads and continue up to an altitude of 850 m, where the upper part begins.

Tour:

Return: (machine translated)
If the Cordevole river is in flood, leave the river at the bridge at 560 meters and take the path on the left to the mines of Val Imperina. Alternatively, you can take the path on the right to the fortress, but this involves a steep climb to the old road to Agordo.

A canyon that's hard to describe, Low water flow; it would certainly have been more fun with more water. Open terrain, at least in the upper section. A few pools, but nothing spectacular. Of local interest. (machine translated)
