Summary: (machine translated)
Short canyon, interesting because of the last three abseils. The last rappel point, visible from the ascent path, is a narrow tube between gneiss walls with a considerable flow of water. The rappel point is very exposed and can only be reached via an uncomfortable handrail. When the water level is high, it is advisable to avoid this and instead climb up on the right. This spot is also popularly known as "the devil's tap".

Approach: (machine translated)
Drive through the Ahrntal valley in the direction of Luttach. When you arrive in Oberluttach, you will find the village of 'Moar zu Pirk' on the left-hand side, near the Hotel Post. From here, drive 500 meters upstream on the right orographic side of the stream towards Brunnberg until you reach a bridge over the Schwarzbach where you can park your car.
