Summary: (machine translated)
Simple dry ravine under the Font del Caragol. Nice and good to start because with combination of cars the accesses and returns are almost immediate and it does not have great difficulties.

Access: (machine translated)
Access
Situated in Roquetes we will take the road of Els Ports that takes us to Caro.
After the long straight road that brings us closer to Els Ports we have a curve to the left with a bridge over the ravine. Here on the left you can park the car on the way back.
Almost 1km later there is a very sharp left curve that has a track on which we will return, there we could also leave the car but there is less room.
We will continue along the road to the Font del Caragols where we can park the access car and go down a path.
Another option is about 400 meters before there is a track on the right that goes down to the ravine right in the Corral de Ganduls, we can try to go down there and park where we do not disturb.

Approach: (machine translated)
The access from the Font de Caragols is a little javelin-like, on the side of Ganduls we remove part of walking through vegetation. But the access in both cases is obvious.

Tour: (machine translated)
With a lot of vegetation, then the riverbed clears up and there is a fairly well formed ravine with 4 rappels of up to 15m. Some of them can be climbed.

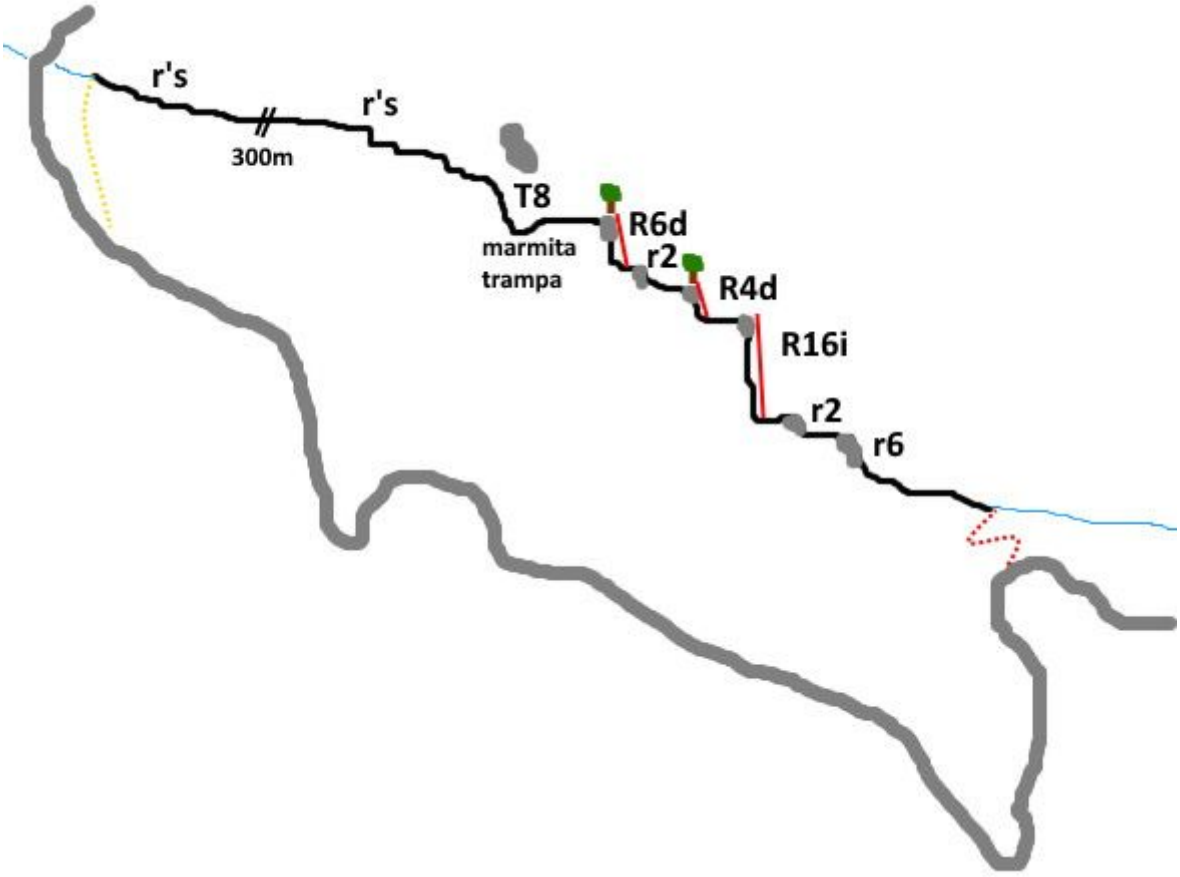

Return: (machine translated)
There is a path on the left that soon crosses the riverbed to go up to the road. It is marked, you can't get lost
Possible but the terrain has a lot of vegetation
