Summary: (machine translated)

Aquatic jump tour, perfect for beginners, family, or just to have fun. Commercially run.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)

Parking at Gasthaus Marie is possible, but it is generally considered nicer to park at the top, since it does not bother anyone

Approach: (machine translated)

From the top parking area walk NW, pass the bridge and follow the path into the river

Tour: (machine translated)

Lots of jumps (up to 6 - 7m) and a few slides. Can be done with quite a bit of water, though it then requires some whitewater knowledge. Frequented by commercially guided groups. Not a deep canyon by any means, but fun for beginners or kids.
If you use the water level gauge "unterer Walchen", 50 cm is still very doable but getting quite high. I have done up to 80 - 90, but this can get quite dangerous if you don't know what you are doing. Higher than that and you should bring your whitewater kayak or raft!

Return: (machine translated)

After the last jump / slide into the big pool, you can find a path leading back to the road on the left. Alternatively continue until you reach Gasthaus Marie, and exit there.

Super easy tour under normal water conditions. Great for whitewater practice during high water conditions. Lots of jumps, deep pools. Very open "canyon".
