Summary: (machine translated)
Hiking canyon down to the sea

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Porto Novo in western direction ('Tarrafal') you pass the Italian cement factory (on the right of the road) and after about 10 km you reach the Ponte Sul (150 m above sea level), which spans the Ribeira das Patas. After the bridge, the road to Tarrafal turns left, but we turn right and after about 3 km we arrive in Lagedos.At the first houses and the bridge over a side 'stream' of the Patas is our starting point.

Approach: (machine translated)
The road on the orographic left 'bank of the side stream' about 50 m to the south, then left in an easterly direction between the houses through we reach a ditch, which we follow downhill. Not to be suspected at first sight, at its exit on the left begins the descent path that we follow to the bottom of the gorge of the Patas.

Tour: (machine translated)
Continuation of the Patas med., partly narrower and running out to the sea (coast stony).

Return: (machine translated)
After reaching the coast on the orographic left side of the Patas and practically parallel to it in a northerly direction initially completely pathless back to the road. Here you can head for the homestead south of the road as an intermediate destination. The paths are mostly goat paths, but also partly walk towards the homestead.At the road decent chances that one is taken by an Aluguer (shared cab) or even as a hitchhiker to Porto Novo.
