Summary: (machine translated)
Also known for its best waterfall the Racó del Moro. It is a fattened and very well formed ravine that after rains is a delight. Given its access it is best to combine it with Clot de l'Hospital.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Mas de Barberáns to Roquetes by the TV3421, in the pk 18,6 we have a detour to the Barranc de Lloret. At the end of this track there is a barrier, there is a place to park.

Approach: (machine translated)
Approach to Bcos Lloret and Clot de l'Hospital
We will continue along the same track that towards the southwest goes up to the Font del divendres and Mas del Cansalader. We will pass a gate and after a couple of bends we will leave the track to go to the right on a path that goes up to Coll Ventós (at the height of the fountain and a water tank).
When you reach the pass you will find a track again, after 250m there is a track on the right, it is the easiest place to access Lloret.
If we continue straight ahead we would go to the head of Clot.

Tour: (machine translated)
Only 4 rappels and many big blocks in the riverbed. The best part is the final part with the Racó del Moro and its emergence.

Return: (machine translated)
After the Racó we will see a path that we will have to follow along the Lloret to the parking lot.
