Summary: (machine translated)
This is not a descent as such, but simply a couple of rappels over this unique cave of Montserrat. The second rappel, over the cave, is 42m with an overhanging end. Spectacular!

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
On the A2 we will take the detour to El Bruc.
Cross the village up to the schools and turn right looking for the Refugi Vincenç Barré. We will follow this road that will become a track to the parking lot used by climbers.

Approach: (machine translated)
Along the access track straight ahead until the fork, straight ahead Caragols, we to the right (return of Cargols), along the Camí de la Cova de l'Arcada. We will pass by the Roca del Tambor and from there to the Font d'es Xebre. From here it is time to climb to the cave, once we reach it we continue along the path and after leaving it behind there is a path to the right, marked with milestones by which we will climb until we reach the bed of the stream.

Tour: (machine translated)
A first rappel, then a handrail to avoid a pool and we are already on the spectacular R42.

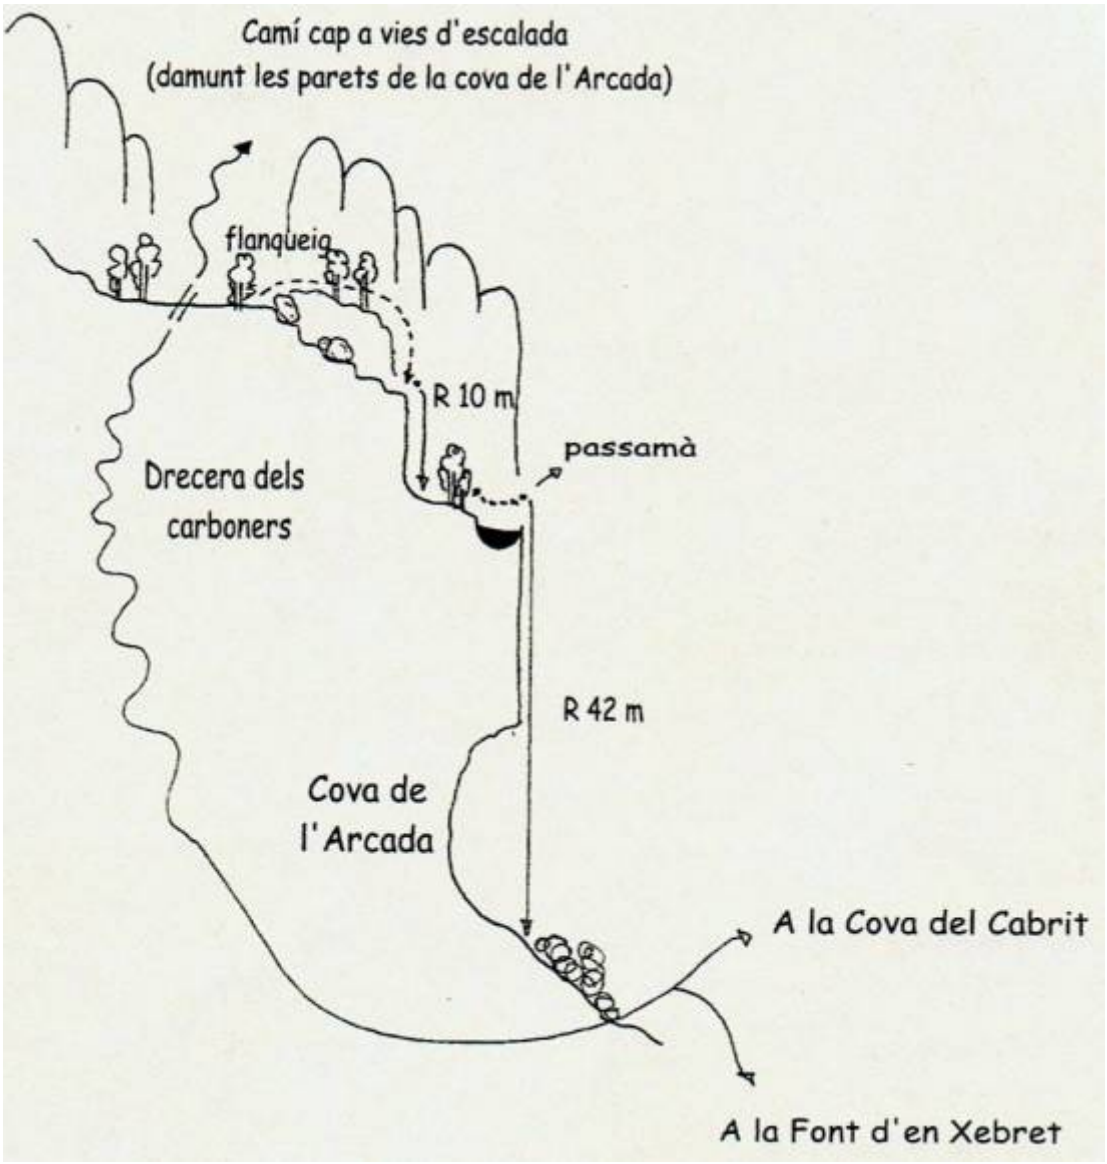

Return: (machine translated)
We will undo the access road
