Summary: (machine translated)
Simple torrent to descend in the rainy season to carry a good flow. All rappels are from natural, in the middle of this wonderful forest and ends the descent in the Riera d'Ogassa, ideal to continue the descent to the exit to El Negre. Here we will review only the part of the Canalies, to continue with the Riera will take another almost 2 hours of descent.
There are several colleagues who have told us that if we are going to park at the Alberge El Negre we should ask for permission, respect that it is a rest area and that we should spend money to compensate for the inconvenience.
You know! ;)

Access: (machine translated)
From Ripoll to Sant Joan de les Abadesses on the N260, at pk 111.5 past the restaurant Rama, we have two left-right curves on the stream and a track on the left that climbs to the Serra de Sant Amand.
We will go up this track for more than 6kms until the detour of "el Negre", we will take it and we will go down there to leave the car to return if we are going to do the Riera as well.
With the access car or if we only go to Canalies we will return to the track and follow it until the Hermitage of San Martí d'Ogassa, we will pass it and about 100m later there is a left curve with place on the right to park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We continue a few meters to get into the right on a path that goes to the towers of light and then turns right and down to the remains of a track through the forest. We will follow this track for about 400m to the bed of our ravine.

Tour:

Return: (machine translated)
When we get to the Riera, if we do not want to continue to the Negre, we will go up a few meters to the exit of the Clot de Mingo where we will climb
