Summary: (machine translated)
Deep, very watery canyon that flows into the even deeper and watery canyon of Torrente Mae.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Belluno through the Piave Valley to Longarone, here turn off towards Val Zoldana and follow the road to Soffranco. Park to the left of the bridge over the Mae.\n\take the second car high above the canyon to the bottom of the valley. Park at the first bridge over the Torrente Grisol.

Approach: (machine translated)
The gorge begins just below the bridge. An entry further up by one of the spring creeks is probably also possible.

Tour: (machine translated)
Hiking routes on very slippery ground alternate with narrow gorges. There is only one old anchor, the rest must be jumped or downclimbed. Detailed description in the AIC forum.

Return: (machine translated)
When you reach the gorge of Torrente Mae climb the fixed ropes and turn left back to the road.

Beautiful environment, very majestic. High water flow rate. Be careful in a couple of places... Beware also hai stuck logs on final forked part. By exit , we did not find the fixed ropes, but found the drainage channel of the little village above (see photo 4). (Halfway between Maé and Ponte confluence to go to the village from road SP251).
