Summary: (machine translated)
The Circhio Valley drops steeply toward the Torrente Finoieri and features numerous waterfalls, among which a series of waterfalls known as the “Cascata del Paradiso” stands out in particular.
The name is fitting: in the spring, it truly is a paradise of gushing water, cascading down in four separate drops with a total drop of about 100 meters. In the summer, however, the water flow is reduced to a trickle, and the waterfall loses some of its charm.
