Specialities:

Gear:

Summary:
The canyon is accessed via a tributary of the Anzola with very weak water flow and a fairly vertical character. The descent presents no major difficulties. The few nice waterfalls are not enough to make up for the long approach hike or the endless boulder fields (chaos) that must be negotiated.

Tour:

Return:
The final section is a heap of boulders. Before the last waterfall, at the water intake, take the path on the true right bank that reaches the small village.

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 45.9725 8.3436
