Summary: (machine translated)
Also known as Canal de la Tossa de la Reina.
Generally dry ravine, located in the curve after the Font del Caragol that is used as a return to Vallfiguera and Ximenot. Quite unknown and yet a very interesting descent.
Regulation of the Parc Natural del Port:

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Access
In Roquetes take the Els Ports road that leads to Caro.
After the monument to the wild goat and the Font Caragol we will have a sharp turn to the left and a place to park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We will leave by the Vallfiguera return path that comes out 50m ahead, when we go down to the small riverbed we will follow it until we reach the cuttings.

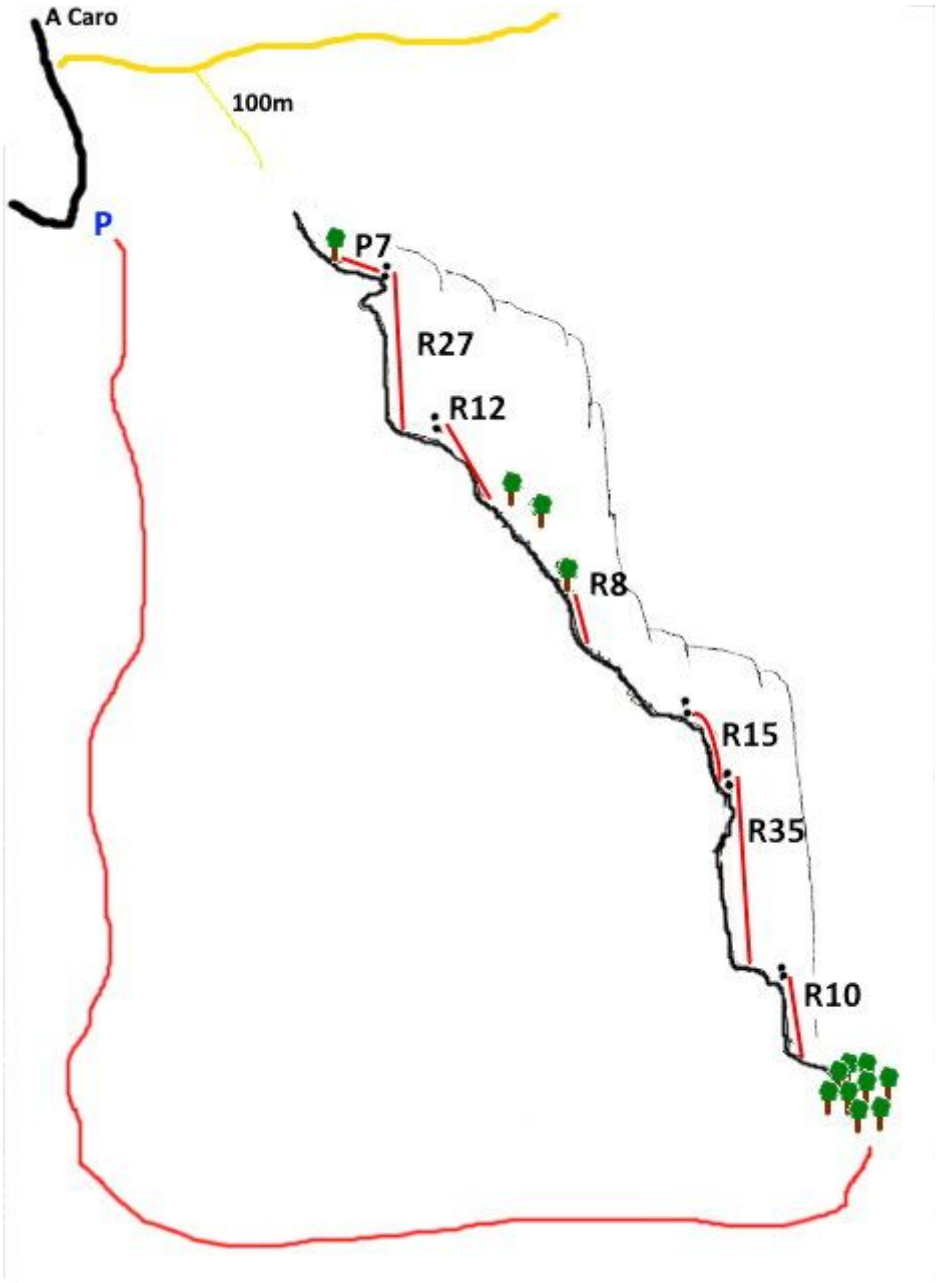

Tour: (machine translated)
A first part of access to reach the walls. We will have a rappel / handrail from a tree to the first vertical. From here it closes a little, it remains a vertical and beautiful channel.

Return: (machine translated)
We will continue along the riverbed, between trees for about 60m until we leave the walls. We will see a path little marked by the gravel on our right that surrounds the walls and gets us into a hard uphill channel that leads us directly to the curve.
