Summary: (machine translated)
Beautiful descent with water all year round, the environment is of high value so we must take extreme precautions to keep it as good as possible. Beautiful descent in its first part, the Engorjat dels Graus, after receiving the torrent of the Font Freixe on the left is quite open and we can leave the descent, if we decide to do it completely (about 3 hours) we will need combination of vehicles, this part is again engorgarse and gain interest. Perfect to combine with Aligons, Freixe,...
There are several colleagues who have told us to comment that if we are going to park at the Alberge El Negre to ask for permission, to respect that it is a rest area and that we spend money to compensate for the inconvenience.
You know! ;)

Access: (machine translated)
From Ripoll to Sant Joan de les Abadesses on the N260, at pk 111.5 past the restaurant Rama, we have two left-right curves on the stream and a track on the left that climbs to the Serra de Sant Amand.
We will go up this track for more than 6kms until the detour of "el Negre", we will take it and we will go down there to leave the car to return if we are going to do the Riera as well.
With the access car or if we are only going to do the Engorjat we will return to the track and follow it to the Hermitage of San Martí d'Ogassa. Another option is to park at the head of Engorjat, there is room to leave the vehicle without getting in the way.

Approach: (machine translated)
Immediate if we park near the head of the trail. If we have parked at the hermitage, we will have to go back along the track to the Riera.

Tour: (machine translated)
First beautiful part in the Engorjat that we will finish when we reach the junction with Font Freixe, here we can climb by its return or continue through a more open area until almost Aligons where it narrows again until the ascent to El Negre.

Return: (machine translated)
We can leave before the stream by the track on the right, in 10min we will be in the Negre.
After the gorga and before the Torrent del Clot we have a path that climbs us to the Negre.
