Summary: (machine translated)
Upper part of the well-known Rio dell' Ambruseit. At the beginning some nice rappels then longer downclimbs/walking sections to the entry in the lower part.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Parking lot below as with the inferiore part.
Take the shuttle car and drive up towards Lovea. Park the vehicle at the parking lot for hikers at Rif Monte Sernio (approx. 500m before the parking lot for the inferiore section).

Approach: (machine translated)
Follow CAI trail no. 416 (Rif Monte Sernio). This leads continuously uphill until after about 50 minutes CAI path no. 455 (Pra di Lunze) branches off to the right downhill.
Follow this downhill and you will be in the streambed for a few minutes.

Tour: (machine translated)
Bypass 5m to the left or on the left bank using steep footpaths.
5m left (old anchor)
Jump 3m or rappel right at the tree
Slide 4m
20m right (2 steps) 2 old and 1 new anchor in brittle rock

For the first time we climbed the upper part and the lower part in one and replaced a few slings from the old stock. Walking passages after the 1st part to the entry into the 2nd part are relatively long, otherwise a really nice tour. It is advisable to take a few pieces of rope with you to possibly exchange some more old slings. (machine translated)

Today I climbed the upper part for the first time. Nice rappel at the beginning, partly brittle rock, then just longer downclimbing / stream hiking to the "known lower part". (machine translated)
