Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Or better called Ruisseau d'Esquierry because of its location on the stream, it is a beautiful and quite open descent with an impressive final part over the Madeleine waterfall.
Attention: it is a very slippery canyon.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We must reach Bagnères de Luchon from the French side by the D125 or from Spain by the Portillon from Bossost by the N141.
At the exit of Bagnères de Luchon north we must turn left on the D618 towards Arreau and Peyresourde.
Arriving at Cazeaux turn left on the D76 towards the commune of Oô. Cross the village and continue towards Granges d'Astau and Lac d'Oô. At the end of the road there is a parking lot.

Approach: (machine translated)
We go back about 100m to cross the bridge and take the GR that goes up the valley of the Ruisseau d'Esquierry. We follow it until it crosses the stream at about 1650m and here we enter the water.

Tour: (machine translated)
Nice descent that starts with a few small rappels and very open to get higher and higher until the impressive waterfall of Chevelure de la Madeleine.

Return: (machine translated)
After the last rappel we exit to the left and soon we cross the river towards the parking lot.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Chevelure de la Madeleine Canyon forestier , Marche d’approche raide, innombrables bois , souches mortes dans la progression. Équipement problématique à trouver dans la grande cascade (sûrement recouvert par les mousses car apparemment il serait au milieu de l’actif) Mains courantes difficilement lisibles Canyon bof bof , sûrement intéressant avec un bon débit mais il faudrait un équipement à la hauteur.
