Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Impressive waterfalls next to the Montorte, only for people experienced in big verticals and with very good orientation. There are no trails in the area, so we leave the access and return diagrams without further data.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We will have to reach Kripán, although the Husos belong to the town of Laguardia.
At the height of p.k. 70 - 72 there are tracks on the left that take us to the base of the Husos.

Approach: (machine translated)
The best access is from the east taking advantage of a track that leaves us almost at the base and a path that climbs through the forest to the Portillo. When surpassing the cliffs we will have to leave the path and, between bush and forest, look for the beginnings of the waterfalls.

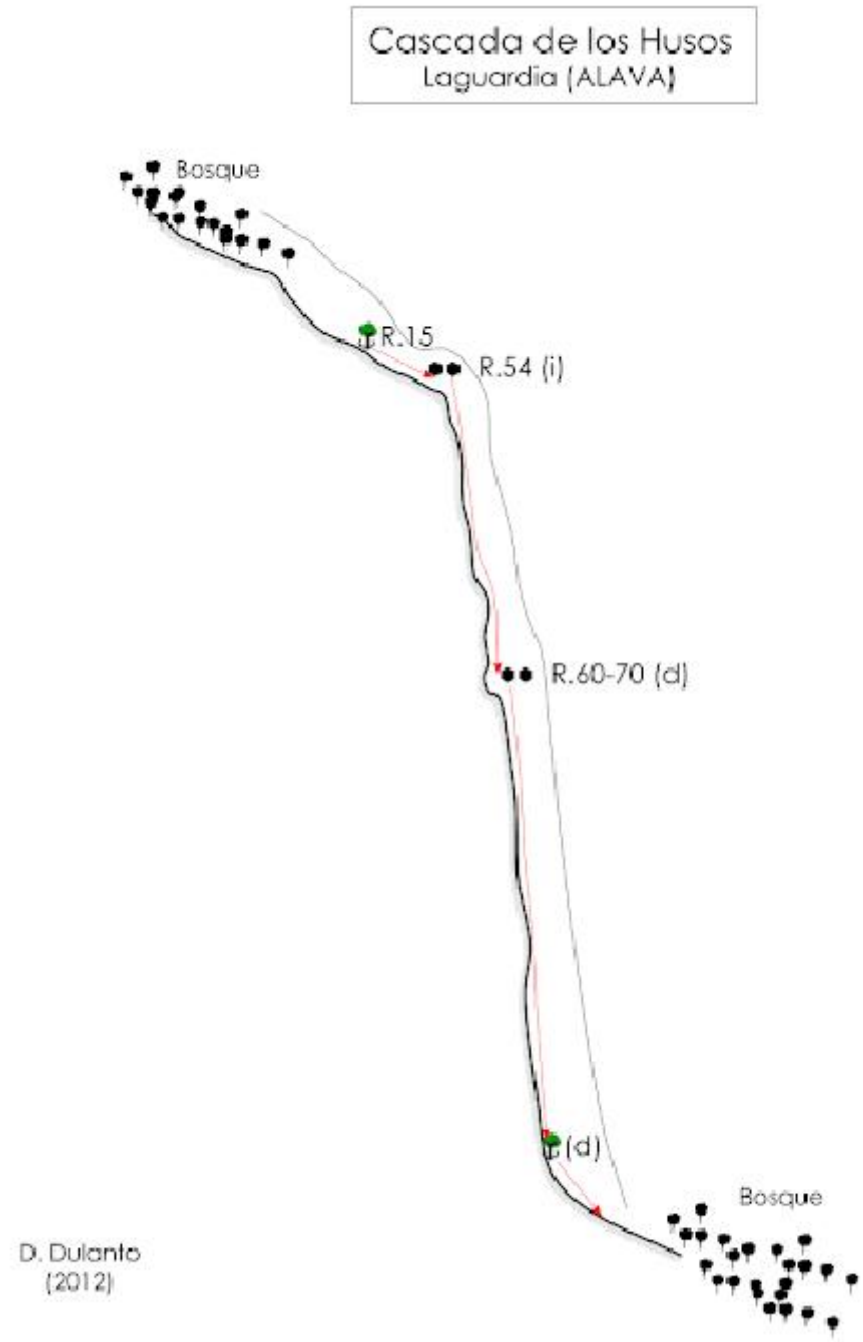

Tour: (machine translated)
See moles

Return: (machine translated)
We will continue descending along the climbers' trails until we reach the trail.
