Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon, with a very vertical and compromised final part. A vertical of more than 100m that requires a good use of ropes. A lot of undergrowth in the riverbed in the less vertical areas.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We are located between Buenavista del Norte and Garachico on the TF42.
At the height of the Caleta, in the p.k. 9 there is a gas station where we will leave the return vehicle.
With the access vehicle we go to the traffic circle at p.k. 11. 11 and take it up to Tierra del Trigo, once there we turn left onto the TF423 towards El Tanque. We will follow this road for one kilometer to the viewpoint (just after the two right-hand hairpins) where we will park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We will go out to the north from the second fork on the right a path that after a few meters we leave to go to the right to go down towards the riverbed. Before arriving we will follow the left slope to avoid undergrowth until we see that we are approaching the first jump.

Tour:

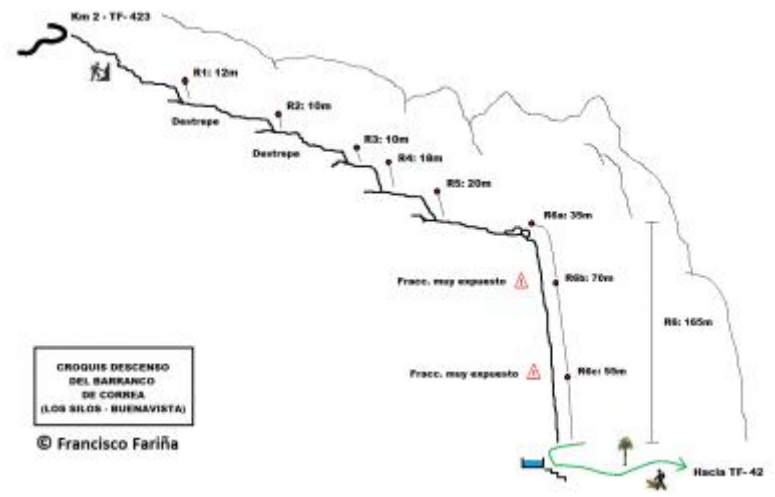

Return: (machine translated)
On the path to the right of the intermediate channel, it takes us to a cave and a reservoir, on the other side a staircase to descend the wall, on the left is a path on which we continue horizontally that lead us to a track, this track and northbound to the street Camino Viejo del Pozo, we go to the right and the next left to reach the road.
