Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Two ravines in one, the first part more vertical and almost without water, here we will find the difficulties to save, then we will arrive to the Alen river, where we will enjoy the environment and the pools to jump in.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
It is necessary to be located in the concello of Covelo.
By the A52 to take the N120 and from there by the PO-255, or by the EP-5101 to Covelo and from there the PO-261 to Maceira. In both options we approach O Piñeiro da Igrexa from the south.
We will pass Piñeiro da Igrexa and soon a detour to the left to the EP-4305 to Barcia de Mera and arriving, detour to the right to Alen and follow the road until almost the neighborhood of Caxil. Just before arriving we have a left turn with the bridge over the river Alen and on the right the detour to the chapel of San Xoan de Mosteiro and its recreational area. We will go along this small road until we park in the recreational area.

Approach: (machine translated)
We follow the circular path of the Red Natura 2000, cross the bridge and go through the Fuente Santa until we almost reach the stream of Raposeira, here we leave the path and we get uphill between trees to go to a channel. Once in the canal we follow it to the stream.

Tour: (machine translated)
The Raposeira stream is a vertical descent, very maintained until it reaches the lower part where it joins the Alen river, from here the descent has a watery character.

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the bridge, we take the circular path on the right.
