Specialities:
Gear: Ropes: 2x20m
Summary: (machine translated) Small scale but varied canyon
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) Take the SS 45 until Toscolano Maderno, then turn onto the road to Gaino. Go through Gaino and continue steadily uphill. The road becomes a dirt road. Follow the signs to the "Rifugio Pirlo". After about 5 km you come to a green metal bridge. Park your car there.
Approach: (machine translated) Beyond the bridge, continue on the slope (also possible with a second car), keeping right at forks towards "Campei de Sima", until you reach the bridge over the Campiglio (info board, entry).
Tour: (machine translated) First river walk, but then nice rappel, caves, sintering.
Return: (machine translated) Either after the mouth of the Campiglio in the Torrente Toscolano right up to the slope and on this back to the car or - better - in the Toscolano downhill to the bridge. An exit on the water drainage is not advisable, because the channel - above and parallel to the Torrente Toscolano - is later led through long tunnels.
Coordinates: Canyon Start 45.6885 10.5880 Parking Entry and Exit 45.6730 10.6145 Canyon End 45.6885 10.6082

Very nice, and very very watery, at least for the conditions found today! Weapons all okay and in very good condition. If you also do the Toscolano it becomes an endless trip interspersed with 150m of swimming in a beautiful canyon For the current conditions I guess you can safely rate as the brother downstream Toscolano the difficulty of a3v3III) (machine translated)
