Summary: (machine translated)
O Grieta de los Barzolos, is a beautiful crack, narrowness, gorge that flows into the gorge of Arbayún. Generally dry, it is an ideal place in the rainy season. Nice formations, simple rappels and quick and easy access. We can even combine cars if we do not want to walk 20 minutes back.
Perfect for beginners.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We will have to be located in Bigüézal.
We will take the A21 until exit 35, Lumbier. We will take this road, the NA150, to Lumbier. In the village we will continue towards Navascués on the NA178.
Up to the bridge of Bigüezál over the river Salazar, we can park here the return car if we have it. With the access car or if we only have one car, we go up the road towards Bigüezal and before p.k. 2 there is a long left curve. 2 there is a long left curve with parking space on the right.

Approach: (machine translated)
Evident by the track that goes down to the creek, when we reach the riverbed we get into

Tour: (machine translated)
Two very nice and narrow gorges, short rappels, slippery belays, some of them with rock bridges to belay on.

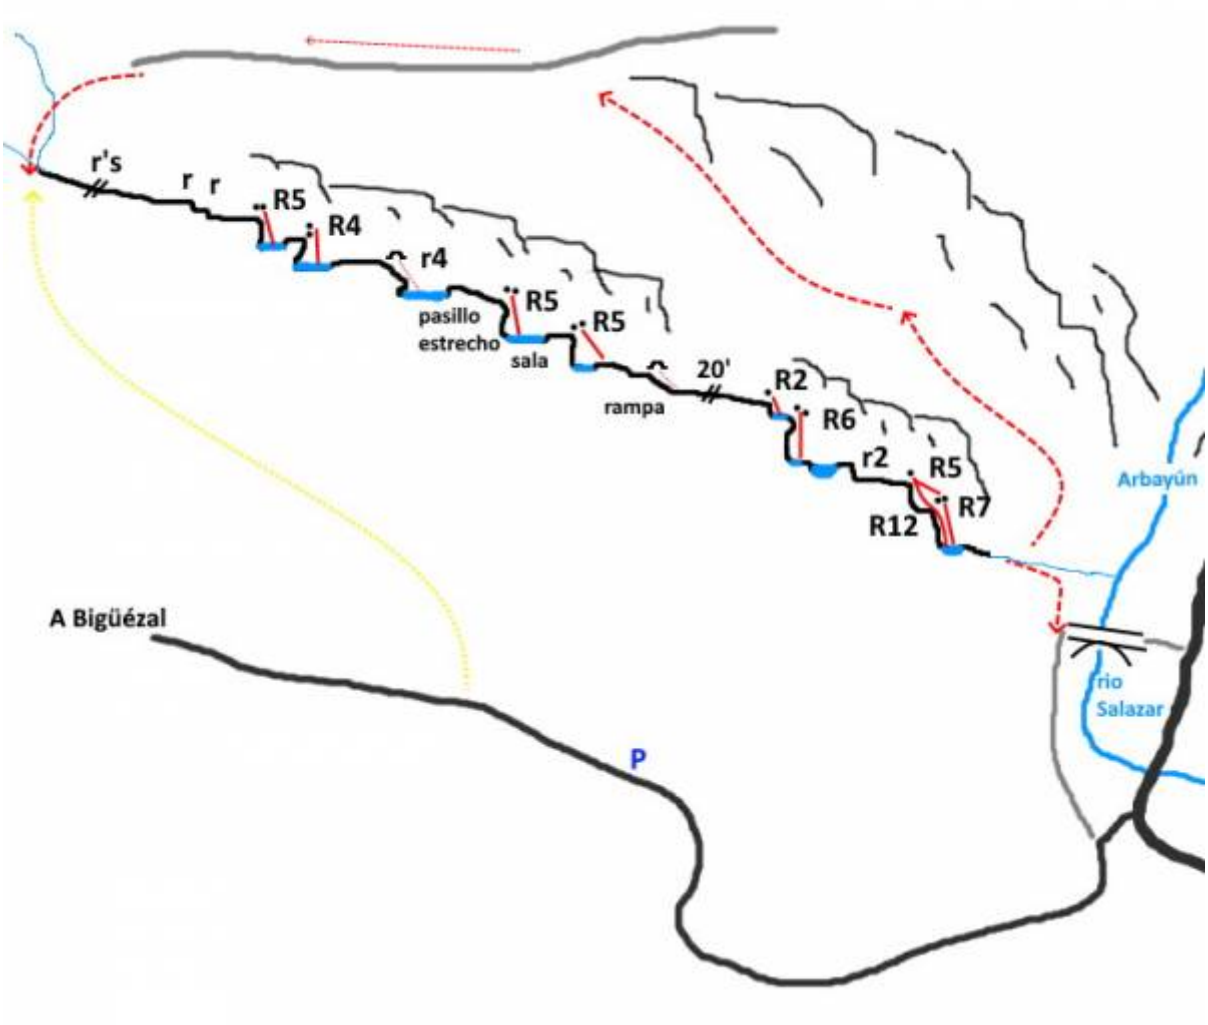

Return: (machine translated)
After the last rappel we have two options:
1.- With two cars we exit to the right towards the bridge, where we will have parked.
2.- The same but going up the road to the access car.
3.- A path on the left goes up the slope to a track, we will follow the track along the top of the hills with the stream always on our left to go around the gorges and go to the entrance bridge to the ravine.
