Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Castejon de Sos in the Valle de Benasque, we head south on the A-139 towards Graus, Barbastro. After 7 km, we turn right at the houses of La Catalana onto the HU-V-6411 and drive up via Seira in the direction of Barbaruens. 6.3 km after crossing the Rio Esera, a forest road branches off to the right in a long left-hand bend (information boards). We park our car here.

Approach: (machine translated)
We follow the forest road down to the Puente de la Saca, which spans the Barbaruens (exit point). Here you can see and assess the water flow. We continue along the path and always stay on the main track. We successively cross 3 small tributaries of the Aigueta de Barbaruens, then keep left at a fork in the path to the stream (entry point).

Tour: (machine translated)
5 rappels, walks and downclimbs in an almost tropical environment. Slides and possible jumps. It is recommended to go under the bridge de la Saca and "take" the following slide. Then up to the left and back onto the bridge.

Return: (machine translated)
On the way back to the car.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Barbaruens Fait après Trigas. On a coupé dans le pentu en face de la sortie de Trigas, c'est pas la meilleure idée du siècle (2 barres rocheuses) mais ça passe. Le débit sous le pont n'est pas le débit du canyon. Au moins 5 canyons réalimentent Barbaruens tout au long de sa descente. (Quelle: https://www.descente-canyon.com/canyoning/canyon-debit/21113/observations.html)
