Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon, with two parts, upper and middle, in a unique environment. This first part does not require permits and is much more technical and aerial than the second, being only for experienced people given the fractionation we have in the 100m waterfall. The return is done through the same access of the Middle Erques.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Bcos Adeje area
Located in the south-west of the island, between Guía de Isora and Adeje.
Bcos Erques Sup and Med
By the TF82 between Guía de Isora and Adeje, at the height of p.k. 45 in Tijoco, we have the detour to the TF585 towards Tijoco Alto. On this road we will go up to the village and once there we will go up to the new tank where we will park.

Approach: (machine translated)
Bcos Erques Sup and Med
The access is not very intuitive, we leave by the forest track that leaves from the reservoir and, soon, we take a path to the left, always uphill until we reach another track. Following the track to take the path that crosses the bco del agua and going up, we will border orchards to climb to the head of our ravine.

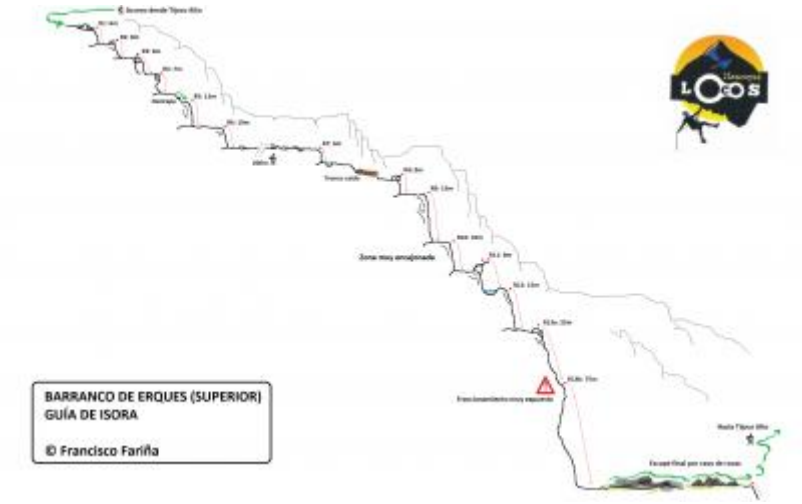

Tour: (machine translated)
See mole

Return: (machine translated)
After the great vertical we will have to advance through the chaos of rocks for a while until we reach the R1 of Erques Medio and a small path on our left that is our return. We will go up the path, with some exposed steps and once at the top we follow the same path to the village.
