Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Vertical and generally dry canyon, neighbor of Moli Bernat, can be easily combined in one morning. Two rappels of 50 and fantastic views.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We will take the C17 to Vic, turn to the C25 in Gurb and at the exit of Rodar de Ter on the C153 to L'Esquirol.
In l'Esquirol we turn off on the BV5207 to Tavertet-Rupit until pk 8.3. We will see a track on the right and plenty of parking space.

Approach: (machine translated)
We follow the track straight ahead, when we reach the fork we take the one on the right (we will return to the left), the path turns right and about 150m later we will go left through the forest and down to the stream. Once there we go towards the waterfall dodging the marmites.

Tour: (machine translated)
A handrail to access the head of R1 which is flown, for 3 people at most. We will descend 50m until we find the meeting point and then another 45m.

Return: (machine translated)
To the left of the pool we will go up through the rocks and then through the forest towards the base of Morro de L'Abella. At times there is a path and at times it gets lost but with the wall always present we will go along it until we find a path with yellow marks. This trail will lead us up and take us to the access track.
