Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Very funny canyon when we catch it with water, so we recommend in winter and after rains (caution with its floods). Relatively easy access and peculiar exit.
We have a beautiful final R35 and numerous possible jumps with good flow, some of the abseils outlined can be dexterous, even more if we do it dry. Perfect to combine with its neighbor Toro

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Location bcos Toro and Aguila
Leaving the GC1 to San Agustín, next to Maspalomas
Location bcos Toro y Águila
We will look for the hotel Gloria Palace (it is the best reference) and from the parking lot, heading north, a track to the cheese factory La Gloria. We will go along this track as far as we can (at the most up to the fence of the goatherd).

Approach: (machine translated)
Access to the Toro and Águila banks
We will follow north direction leaving behind the cheese factory, after 200m there is a track to the left that we do not take and 500m later the track divides, to the right of the Águila bank and in front of the Toro bank.
We will take to the right and walk almost another kilometer to an abandoned building, we leave the track and head towards the NE, towards the cut, when we reach them we will have stunning views of the ravine, we climb that small hill and from the top we will see a small path that descends into the ravine.

Tour: (machine translated)
See mole

Return: (machine translated)
After the long rappel we go out to the right a step that is intuited between the walls, there are loose cairns and remains of a path that lead us to a cable to climb. Once at the top we will retrace the access path.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Aguila Garé au parking de la chèvrerie, la piste est carrossable. Un bonjour aux fermiers pour leur annoncer que l'on fait la descente du canyon. Traversée du cheptel de 500 chèvres ce jour, ça fait du monde!Accès évident avec opentopo. Relais en bon état. 3 vasques avec nage obligatoire ce jour, en short ça le fait, eau pas froide du tout et non croupie.Le dernier rappel passe avec une 60m à double.Pour le retour, bien rester à main droite pour s'élever et tomber sur la sente et la mini via ferrata.
