We drive from Alghero on the SP105 a good 17 km (measured from the outskirts of the city) south in the direction of Bosa. In a wide right turn, the road crosses the Riu Istrampu de su Segnore. We park our car on the north side of the bridge (see "Approach" in "Photo Gallery").

Approach: (machine translated)
Then we walk on the road 600m back in directionong north and then take the right off track upwards. The exit ends and we follow tracks towards the stream. The last meters we are not spared the undergrowth (see "access" in "Photo Gallery").\n\nAlternative access: https://www.wikiloc.com/canyoneering-trails/cascate-sistrampu-de-su-signore-16959397

Tour: (machine translated)
Only 3 rappel (18m-7m-20m), but probably the only rappel in Sardinia over basalt. IdR water flow poor, so best after heavy rain. See video.\n\nMan can "attach" the part below the bridge to the sea, arriving at the sea would be the highlight. Ascent to the road via the orographic. right slope.

Return: (machine translated)
Exit at the bridge onto the road.
