Summary: (machine translated)
Nice canyon in a very well formed gorge with rappels up to 18m with a final exit of 40m in overhang.
It was re-equipped last year with a handrail to be able to go up the final R12 and not have to go down La Vansa.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Situation Bcos Aveller, Gol/Espunya and la Vansa
We must be on the C14 between Organyà and Seu d'Urgell.
Before leaving Organyà we will have the detour to Figols on the right, follow the road to Figols and just at the entrance we will see a detour to the left to Voloriu, we will follow it, cross the village and at the exit the detour to Voloriu on the left. Arriving at Voloriu the road becomes a track, which we will follow along the valley of La Vansa and under the gaze of the Peguera Rock, which we will skirt along its northern slope. After overcoming it, the track goes to the hut of Ainat, already in the torrent of Gol. Before entering the stream we will see a track with red marks on the left and 50m later a place to park.

Approach: (machine translated)
Accesses Bcos Aveller, Gol/Espunya and la Vansa
We return those 50m to take the track of red marks. After 100m we will see that it divides, the marks on the left are the return path. We will continue on the right and in 10min we are in the riverbed.

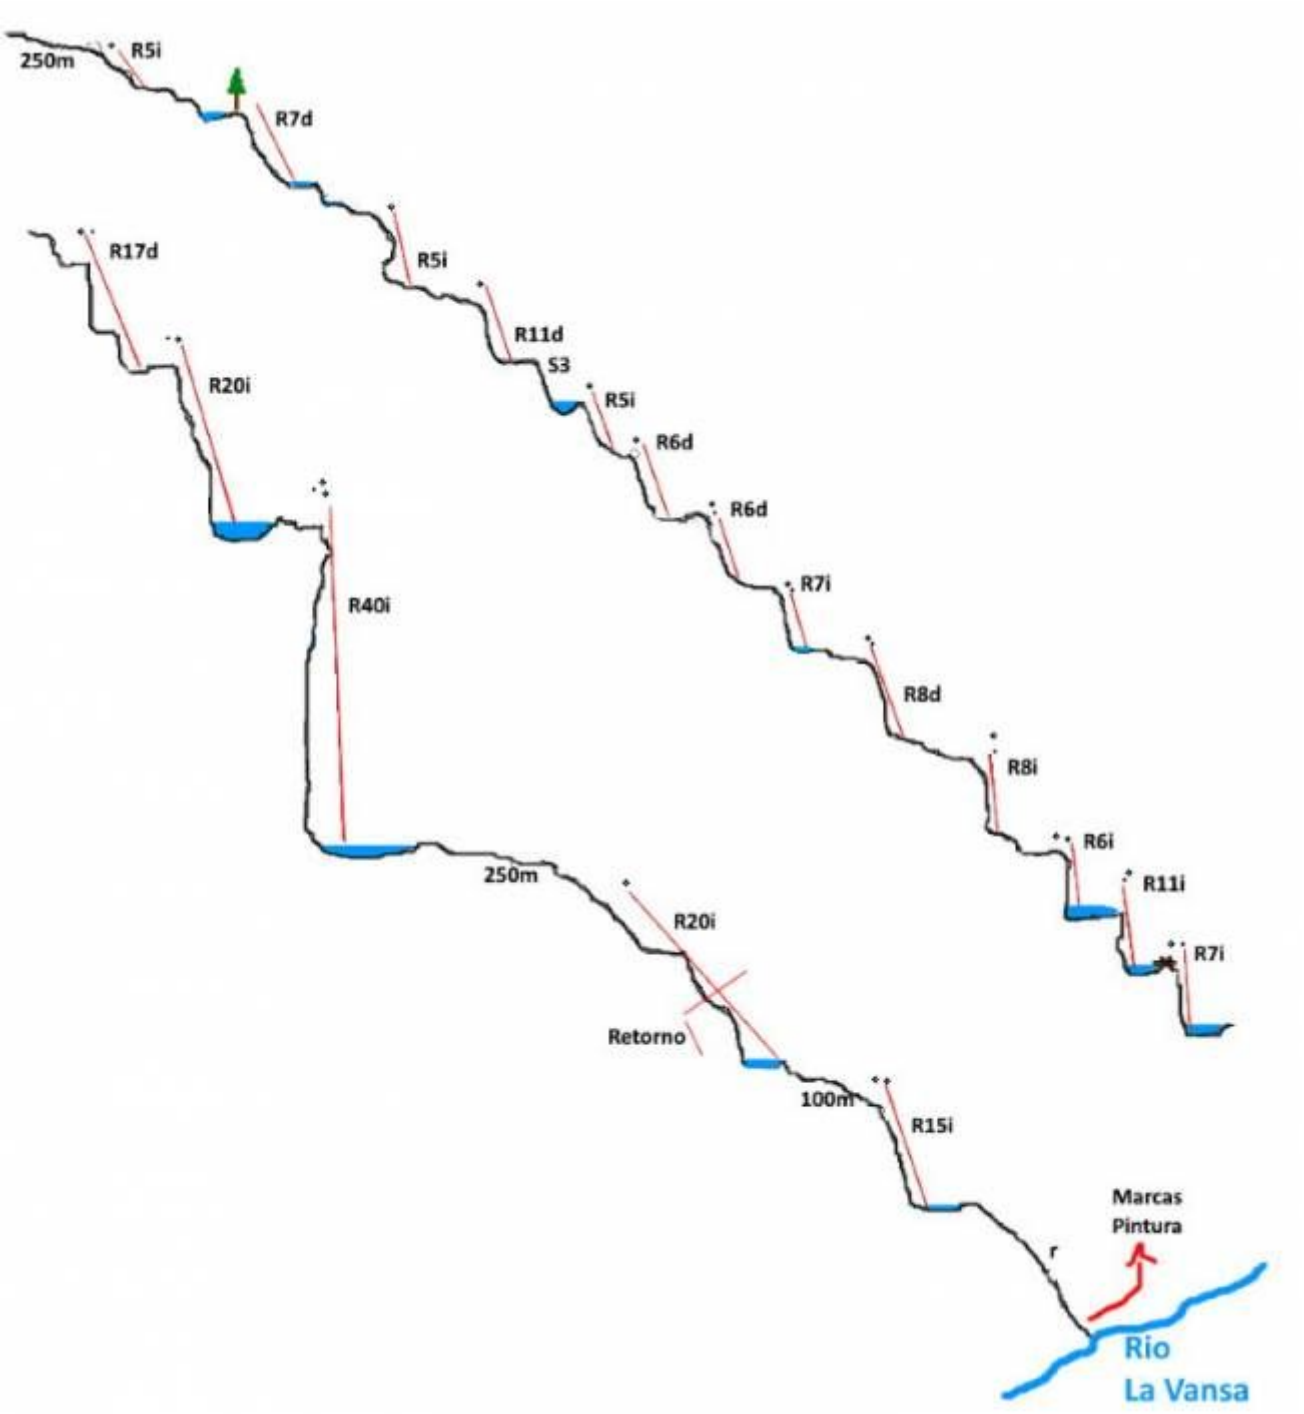

Tour: (machine translated)
Nice descent in a very well formed gorge

Return: (machine translated)
After the R12 we can continue to the river La Vansa and go up the red marks towards the handrail.
We can also go directly up the handrail and follow the red marks.
