Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Simple canyon to initiate people or for collectors. A couple of rappels, a few slides and slides and little else. Two hours of entertainment.
Except for heavy rains we will not have any problem with the flows.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We are located on the N260 between Castejon de Sos and Pont de Suert.
At pk 356,5 next to Montanuy, we have the detour for the A1605 to Bonansa and Roda de Isábena. Shortly after taking this road we have the detour to the right to Castarné, on the left side we can park the car to leave the ravine here.
About 1.5 km up we have a lay-by/track where we could park.

Approach: (machine translated)
Through the aforementioned siding at pk 53.5 we descend to a field and from there to the river.
Attention we have the option to cross the river and follow to its right tributary and enter by adding one more rappel.

Tour: (machine translated)
Nothing remarkable, a small narrow strait with cliffs and slides. A couple of rappels and little else.
If we access by the tributary we will have a small conglomerate gorge with a 15m natural rappel and another 5m to descend to the river.

Return: (machine translated)
When the strait opens definitively we will be able to go up on the left to the road.
