Summary: (machine translated)
Nice 35m waterfall in Les Moles, next to Canillo. Quick access, descent with only this jump and immediate return to the same parking lot. The waterfall is very used in winter for ice climbing.
It is possible to be realized only the cascade or from the superior dam although it does not contribute great thing the crossing for the river except some small dexterity.

Access: (machine translated)
Situated in Andorra La Vella, we will take the CG2 towards Envalira.
After passing Canillo, we leave Sant Joan de Caselles on the right and soon we will see Les Moles and the waterfall on the left, just before the climbing wall. We will turn around when we can to park there.

Approach: (machine translated)
You can go up the trail from the viewpoint and then continue along that side until you pass the head of the waterfall. Another option is to go through the back of the apartments to take the path that leads to the dam above the waterfall and descend the stream.

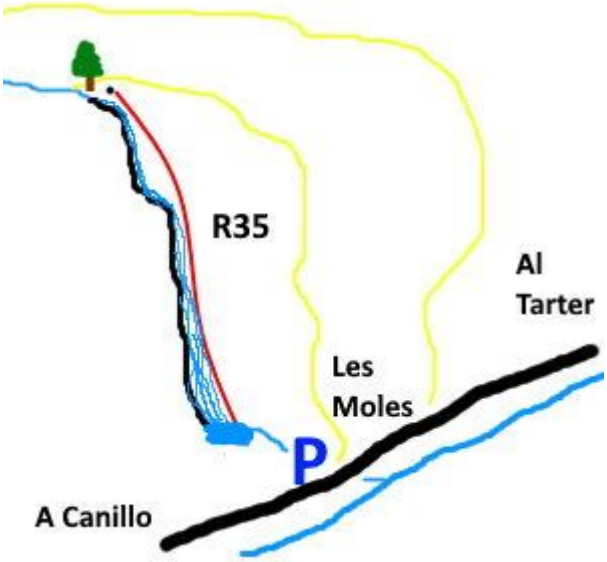

Tour: (machine translated)
Only the 35m waterfall
