Summary: (machine translated)
Short, narrow and dark gorge descent in stratified limestone

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Take the A-14 south along the Adriatic Sea, passing Ancona. 81.5 km after the Ancona-South exit, leave the A-14 at the San Benedetto del Tronto - Ascoli Piceno exit and now head west on the highway towards Ascoli Piceno, leaving the town (worth seeing!) on the left and continuing on the SS-4 to Acquasanta Terme. At the entrance to the town, turn off in the direction of Pozza, Umito. After the village of Pomaro, the road bends over the Pentito stream and continues up the eastern slope of the Rio Garrafo. 2.8 km after the bridge over the Pentito, a dirt road comes up from the right that leads to the abandoned village of Gaglierto. Park one car here, if you have two available, and continue for a good kilometer until you reach a church on the left above the road (S. Sabino). Park here.

Approach: (machine translated)
Trailless from the parking lot to the right (southward) down to the creek (entry; 10 min.)

Tour: (machine translated)
Slightly above the entry, there is a wastewater discharge from the village of Pito on the left (orographic), which is unpleasant when the water flow is low. I f there is a lot of water, the pool between the 8 m and 16 m rappel can become a trap due to back suction.

Return: (machine translated)
Where the stream is culverted, turn right onto the dirt road and follow it up to the road where the car below is parked.
You could continue through the canyon of the Rio Garrafo, into which the Fosso Pito flows, until just before it flows into the Fiume Tronto (see 'Figlie dell Acqua e dell Tempo' no. H1b)
