Summary: (machine translated)
Collector's canyon itself, it is too short and a far access for it not to be. Two small limestone gorges with rappels up to 8m. If we are going to do it, the good thing is that we can do the ferrata of Foix/Foxt uphill and then, on the way back, do it as a canyon. Dry torrent except for heavy rains.

Access: (machine translated)
We leave the A7 to take the C44 to Vandellós. Follow the C44 through Vandellós to the village of Tivissa (pk 19.2). Just at the entrance we enter the village, on the left, by the campsite. We continue along this street until the first crossroads where we turn left. We will leave the campsite to one side and along this street, the carrer de Foix, we will go to the end and park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We go straight ahead on the track that leads to the ferrata of Foix. Just at the signpost we can continue straight ahead and climb the ferrata or go left on the return path.
Once at the top we will follow a little marked path on our right to reach a track (often used to combine the ferrata of Foix and Margarida). When we reach the track we will take it to the left through Les Pinengleres to the Coll de Monetze, where we turn south (right) to get into the valley of Melinques. We will go down here until we see a pool of water and soon a track on the left that leads us to the Mas de Melinques. From here we follow the torrent to the first rappel.

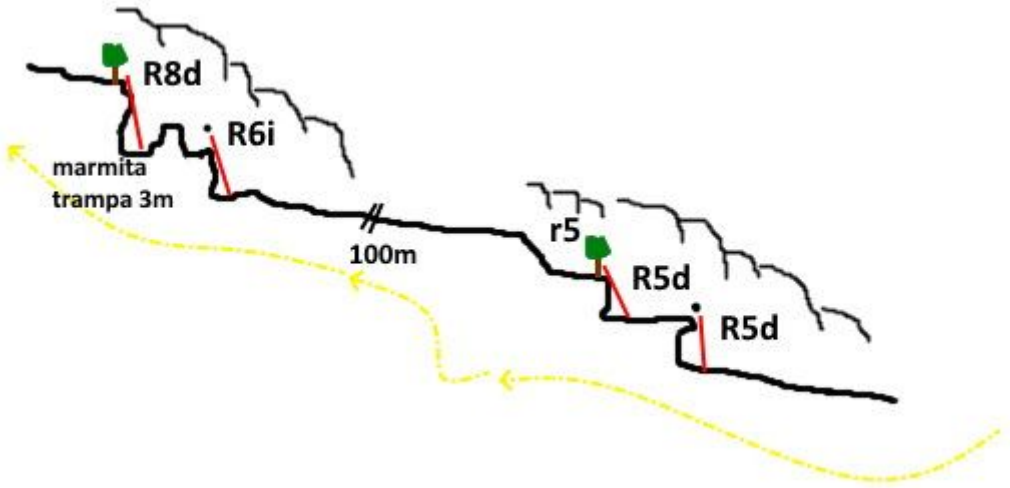

Tour: (machine translated)
Simple, two small gorges with 2 rappels each.

Return: (machine translated)
After the last rappel we continue a little to find the PR, we will take it in ascending direction along the ravine to reach the Mas again. Once here we must retrace the access to the ferrata of Foix, which we can descend rappelling.
