Summary: (machine translated)
Little known and quite remote ravine

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Artesa de Segre we head north on the L512 towards Montargull.
We will have two options:
1.- Past Montargull turn left to Tòrrec and then along the asphalted track to Cal Vansa, where we will park as the track gets much worse.
2.- Continue to Coll de Comiols and turn left on the L911 to Tolot and Perolet. After 500m we will see a track on the left (with a stop sign) that will take us to Cal Castelli where we will park.

Approach: (machine translated)
From Cal Vansa follow the track that goes down to the ravine of Jona and the path that goes up to the ruins of Montadó, from here towards the chapel cross the hill and see the ravine in the background.
From Cal Castelli is obvious, is to go down to the source of the ravine.

See review

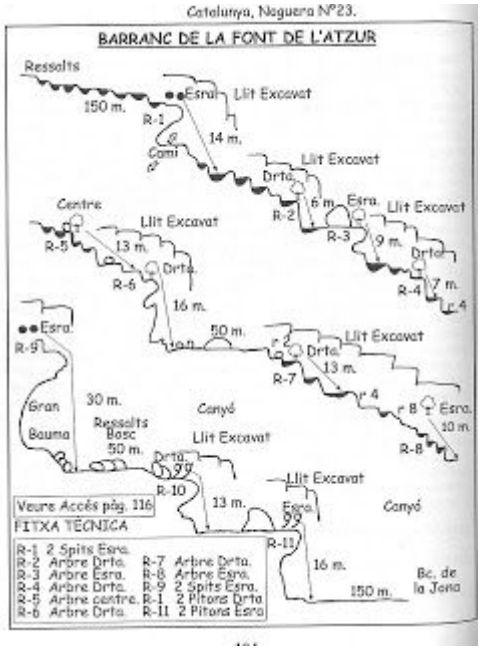

Return: (machine translated)
When we get to the Jona ravine, we will continue to the track and make our way back to Cal Vansa. Or we will go up the path to Montadó and from there to Cal Castelli.
