Summary: (machine translated)
It is a left tributary of the Clava River - Kalbenbach. There are several other waterfalls upstream, but access to them is long and difficult. The downhill part is the most interesting due to the succession of waterfalls.

If you drive to the entry, it's still a 5-minute walk to the entry of the trail. This route is steep and includes a slide and a jump. A flood washed away all the belay stations. We've completely re-established the route. (machine translated)
