Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Beautiful canyon although very dressed and with only 2 rappels. Very little traffic because we will have to replace plates and fight with the brambles. Obligatory combination of vehicles.
Perhaps too much effort for the reward that awaits us.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We must be located in Güímar
With the return vehicle we go to Cº de Guaza to go up to the neighborhood of San Juan. We will arrive at the square and chapel of San Juan and continue straight on to go up to La Hidro, where we will park.
With the access vehicle we will go to the neighborhood of La Hoya, we will arrive at the pza de la Hoya from where we will continue along the track of Las Coloradas where we will go up with our vehicle. When arriving at the end of the asphalt we will be able to park here or to continue something more by the track, although it will depend on the state of the track and of our vehicle, we could arrive just where it begins the Channel of the 1000.

Approach: (machine translated)
Along the Canal de los 1000 to the Aculadero gallery, just before the tunnel.

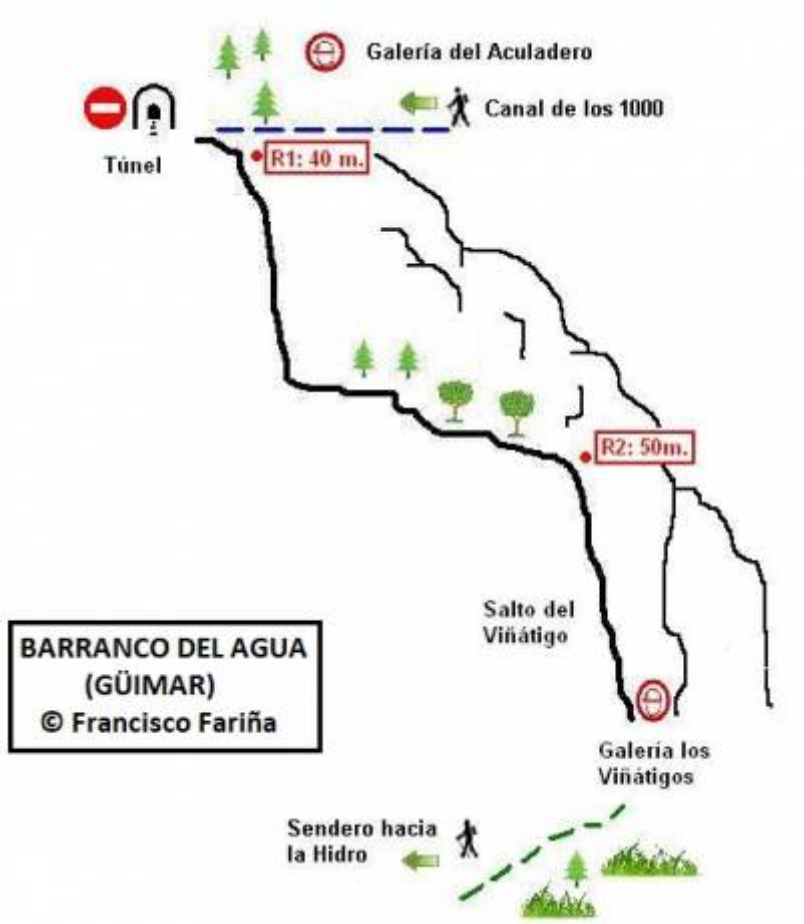

Tour: (machine translated)
See mole

Return: (machine translated)
After the R2 or Viñátigo jump we have the gallery, here we will find a path to the right that goes up, narrow and peculiar by the stones to return to the riverbed at the height of the gallery of the Higueras Salvajes. Here we will already find buildings and a wider path to go down to the Hidro. The views from this path are spectacular.
