Summary: (machine translated)
Runs directly next to the climbing system. Very beautiful canyon, be careful if there is a lot of water!

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Parking lot Wasserlochklamm

Approach: (machine translated)
Via the gorge path (€ 12,-) in approx. 45 min. to the exit of the path (viewing platform).

Tour: (machine translated)
You can rappel down into the "water hole" from the rappel. All belays were newly set up in 2018. Escape options to the gorge path easily possible at any time.
Open canyon at the beginning, very narrow in the lower section.

Return: (machine translated)
Via Klammsteig to the parking lot.

Best access via Klammsteig (€14 admission per person). Unfortunately, the belay stations weren’t set up for an easy climb. Entry directly at the waterhole on the right (new Maillong link). First rappel (new Maillon link). Then 70 m via an old anchor to “Waterfall 5.” Continue from there via a tree. Better equipped after that. New sling at Waterfall 4; from there on, everything is in place. The uppermost section, in particular, is very nice with good-grip moss. (machine translated)
