Summary: (machine translated) Worthwhile forest gorge only in spring or after rains with a beautiful 45m waterfall as a highlight.
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) Access via the B20 to Reith. Park here at the train station.
Approach: (machine translated) From the train station past the church follow the marked path to the Annakreuz. At the cross follow the forest road leading west. Where the forestry penalty crosses the small stream, descend into the ditch that you follow to the confluence with the Angerbach.
Tour: (machine translated) At first still charmless follow the stream meandering lazily in the marshy bed until the Gorge narrows and the first abseils follow, after about 5 abseils between 5 and 15m height you stand under the bridge of the Mariazellerbahn. After another 5 rappels you stand in front of a beautiful 45m rappel. This abseil could be bypassed oro. right over steep forest terrain. Under the waterfall follow about 4 more abseils in a quite nice low gorge. Attention: the rock is extraordinarily slippery.
Return: (machine translated) At the bottom of the valley, follow the forest road under the power line back to the parking lot at the train station. Alternatively, you can park a second car at the junction of the forest road with the highway between Reith and Erlaufboden. In this case, the way back is shortened to 10 min.
