Summary: (machine translated)
Hiking and rappel canyon as an interesting "feeder" to Bc. de la Fou.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We leave the AP-7 (Autopista de la Mediterrania) on the way from Tarragona towards Valencia about 23 km after crossing the Ebro at exit 43 - Vinaròs. After leaving the highway, take the N-238 towards Vinaròs for about 2 km, but then turn right and take the CV-11 towards La Senia. We pass El Castel and arrive at La Senia (about 18.8 km from the highway exit). From La Senia, continue on the CV-105 to the Pantà de Ulldecona reservoir (about 7.5 km from the center of La Senia). We drive over an arm of the reservoir and turn right immediately after the bridge onto a dirt road. First we ride along the reservoir, then we cross the river on its eastern bank and stay right at the next fork. Continue on the main path along the Barranc de la Fou until you reach a parking lot with information boards on the banks of the stream (10.3 km from the bridge over the reservoir). We park our car here.

Approach: (machine translated)
At the parking lot, a sign points us to the Cova dels Bous. Passing the cave entrance on the right, we walk slowly uphill with a view of the Barranc de la Fou valley below on the right. We come to an overgrown forest path and follow it to a meadow with "our" stream.

Tour: (machine translated)
9 rappels and running routes up to the entrance to the Barranc de la Fou (in the Barranc de la Fou another 14 rappels, see there).

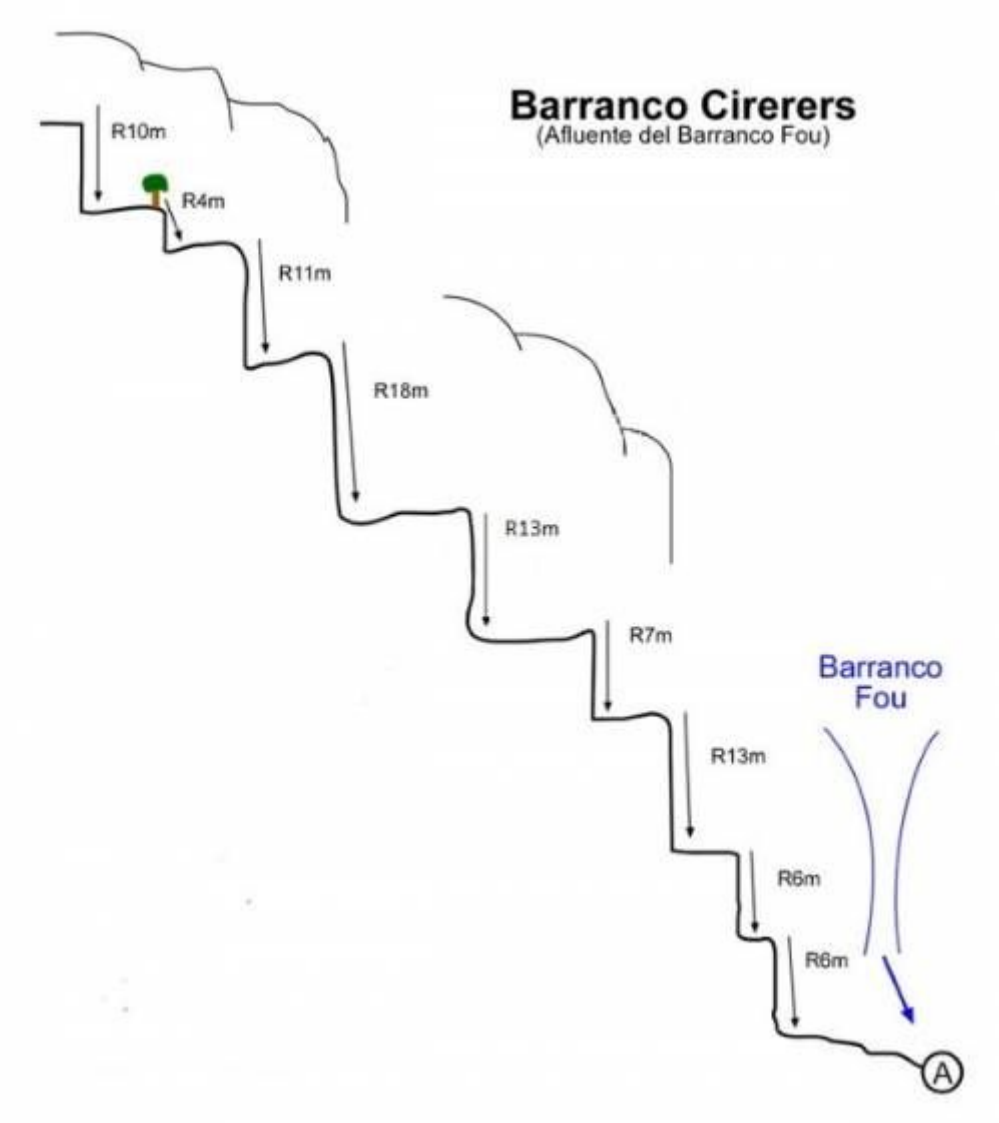

Return: (machine translated)
As with the Barranc de la Fou, cf. there
