Access: (machine translated)
Take the TF436 between Buenavista del Norte and Santiago del Teide. At kilometer 15 is the Hilda overlook, where we park our car.
If we have two cars, we'll drive the second one down to Masca. Upon arrival, we'll pass right by the exit of the canyon; some people recommend parking here, but it's prohibited and we risk getting a fine. We'll drive another 200 meters; we'll find parking spaces at the entrance to Masca.

Approach: (machine translated)
We follow the path along the Bica; just before the exit, a trail branches off to the left, leading us to the beginning of the canyon

Tour: (machine translated)
See above.
The mounting of the handrail, which prevents water from pooling in front of R2, has been tampered with.

Return: (machine translated)
After the last rappel, we turn right onto the handrail that has been installed and climb a few meters. We stay close to the wall until we reach the stairs that lead us to the paved path, which we follow down to the road.
