Summary: (machine translated)
No details

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Filled with water at the beginning of March 2015. Probably dry for a large part of the year.

Access: (machine translated)
From Tafraout, head towards the village of Anergui, where the descent begins.

Approach: (machine translated)
In the village of Anergui: On foot from the parking lot, take a path that leads up the wadi towards a large canyon on the left (leaving the canyon) and a beautiful valley bottom on the right. On reaching the canyon, the path climbs in serpentines through the valley floor up to a mountain pass (approx. 1 hour's walk). walking time). From the mountain pass, you can see the canyon and its parts in front of you. The path slightly downhill and then back up again via a path to reach the entry to the canyon.

Tour: (machine translated)
Large canyon in the Anti-Atlas massif of Tafraoute. The canyon runs through a canyon in which, behind a magnificent granite arch, beautiful abseils rappel, a series of whirlpools and numerous climbing passages.

Not very serious.

Return: (machine translated)
The canyon gradually opens up and provides a view of the villages.
Walk a little further down the wadi to exit on the left bank if possible and reach the parking lot via one of the paths that lead through the terraced fields.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Anergui Beau cadre avec une route spectaculaire. Après pour le canyon en lui même, pas mal de gestion de frottements... Mais ça ne fait pas vraiment décoller... (Quelle: https://www.descente-canyon.com/canyoning/canyon-debit/23394/observations.html)
