Summary: (machine translated)
In the area of Camprodón, almost on the border with France, near the Coll d'Ares, we will find this beautiful mountain stream, with crystal clear waters in the middle of a lush forest. Idyllic place to take a bath in summer. It is a canyon for beginners, with simple rappels, abseiling and some slides.
We can extend the day by accessing the Bco Sant Pere.

Access: (machine translated)
We must be located in the beautiful village of Camprodon, in the middle of the Pyrenees of Girona.
We will take the C-17 to Ripoll, there we will take the C-26 and then the N-260 towards Sant Joan de les Abadesses, where a little more than a kilometer past the village we will take the C-38 to Camprodon.
Pass Camprodon on the C-38 towards Molló, leaving it behind to continue climbing the Col d'Ares. When arriving at p.k. 20 we have a right turn and bridge over the Riort, 100m later we have the bridge over our ravine Fabert river. Just at the curve of the Fabert bridge there is a small road to the left that goes up to Fabert, here there is a small esplanade where you can park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We follow the road for about 150m to the left fork from which leaves a path parallel to the river between woods and small meadows, at 450m in a meadow we will see that reaches the river a tributary on the left (usually dry), the Sant Pere, place to get into the riverbed.

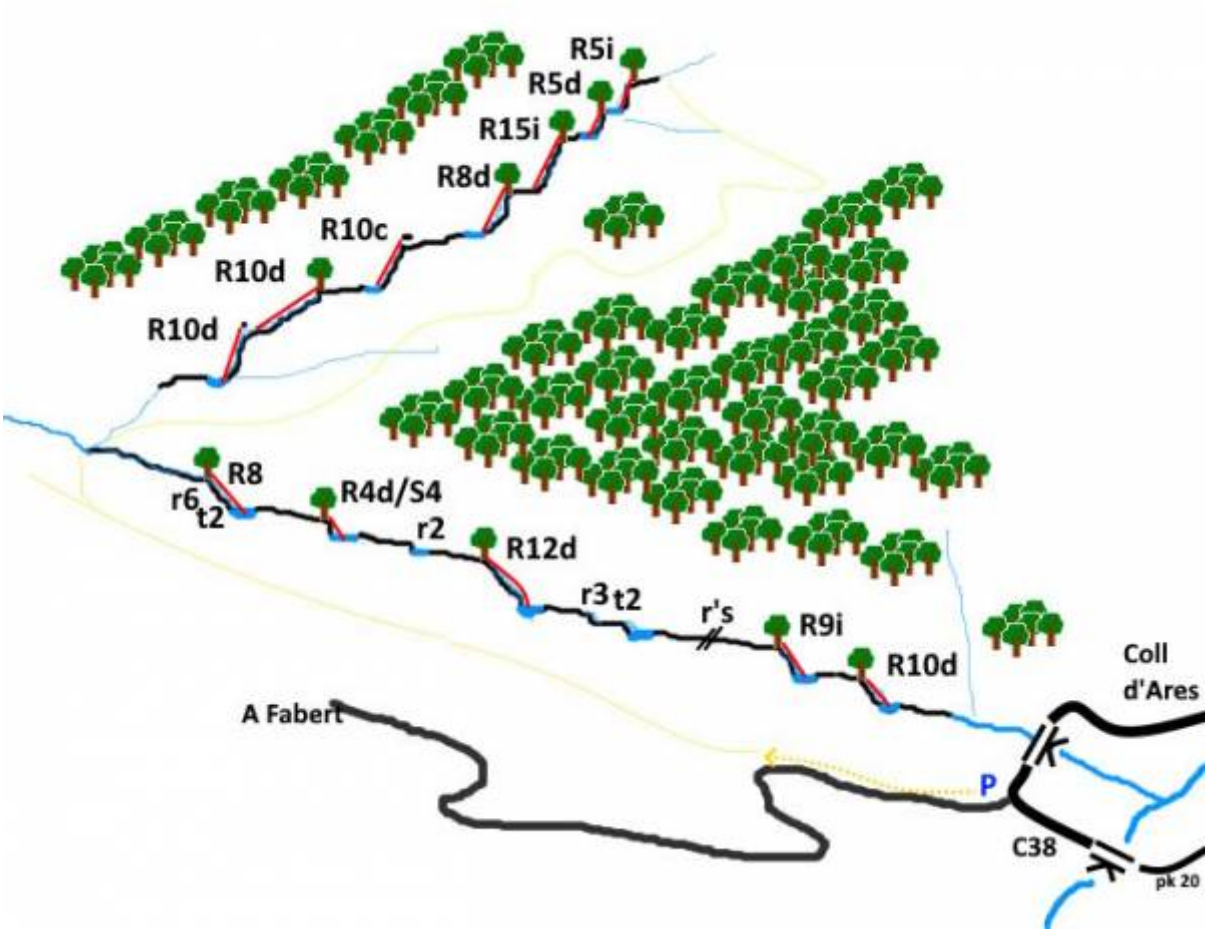

Tour: (machine translated)
Succession of small abseilings, abseilings and slides. Some small jumps of up to 4m (check the pools beforehand).

Return: (machine translated)
When we are arriving at the road bridge, we will exit to the right.
