Summary: (machine translated)
forest canyon

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Either from Belluno via SS50 to Ponte nelli Alpi and from there 6 km southwards on the SS 51 or freeway exit of the A 27 "Belluno south" also on the SS 51. On this SS 51 you reach the north end of the Lago di Santo Croce and shortly before you turn left to Farra d'Alpago, which you reach 3.5 km after the turn-off. At the large roundabout before the bridge over the Runal, turn east and go up Via Venezia, then Via Buscole on the orographic left bank of the Runal. Where the road bends away from the stream at a right angle, we park the lower car. \nWith the second, continue up Via Brussole first between houses, then later in the woods. After a sharp bend to the left, on the right you can see an old barn and the valley station of a material cableway (with service building). Park the second vehicle here.

Approach: (machine translated)
From here a forest path leads down to the stone arch bridge, above which you enter.

Tour: (machine translated)
Relatively open forest canyon with some passages worth walking.

Return: (machine translated)
When the canyon opens and you can see a dirt road above on the left, out onto it and down the creek to the ford where you cross over to the car.
