Summary: (machine translated) Nice canyon with rather brittle rock . But not disturbing. Many rappels can be downclimbed. Children's/beginner's tour. There are no serious difficulties on any rappel. Nice rappel at the end, can be abseiled several times (bypass route).
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) Hall /Mühlau. Parking lot before the last houses (the hiking trail to Scheiblingstein and Rohrauerhaus starts on the left)
Approach: (machine translated) From the parking lot in Mühlau, follow the road on the right, past the last houses, where a forest road begins, at the first junction you can follow the path steeply through the forest (signs "Kreuzmauer" are currently missing, path branches off to the left 20m after the junction) or continue along the forest road (leads past an old game feeding station) At the next hairpin bend, you can take a shortcut to the right along a steep path past a wayside shrine. Then flat through two tunnels, and then right along a forest road to the entry below the water intake.
Tour: (machine translated) Relatively open, sunny scree gorge in the dolomite. The tour was well cleaned by a flood in 2023, boulders are rare and it mostly descends on bedrock. The dam above takes almost all the water in summer. Securing is very good and plentiful (chain anchors and bolts with fixed carabiners). In the upper part there are many small abseils and small slides. When the canyon opens up, a short walking passages before a series of slides up to 2.5m leads to the final waterfall - a beautiful 25m waterfall with an audience.
Return: (machine translated) Follow the hiking trail on the right after the exit back to the parking lot (10 min.)
Coordinates: Canyon Start 47.6377 14.4562

2nd tour of the day before the thunderstorms arrive. The canyon is well cleaned, belays are new and very plentiful. Unfortunately hardly any water flow, but the rock was not slippery except for the last waterfall. 1.5h for three. Dead animal in one of the pools. (machine translated)
