Summary: (machine translated)
Beautiful and vertical canyon with a 55m overhang. Generally without much water except after heavy rains in which a magnificent waterfall is formed. Comfortable and fast access, equally fast development and an uncomplicated return that will allow us to easily combine with any of the area.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We will take the C17 to Vic, turn to the C25 in Gurb and at the exit of Rodar de Ter on the C153 to L'Esquirol.
In l'Esquirol we turn off on the BV5207 to Tavertet-Rupit until pk 11.2. We will see a signpost, a place to park and a road that goes down to the stream.

Approach: (machine translated)
We go down the path until we find a track that we take to the right and continue until we see some cairns on the left, from here diagonally we will go in search of the old bridge and then continue along the right bank until we find the Salt

Tour: (machine translated)
The three rappels over the waterfall

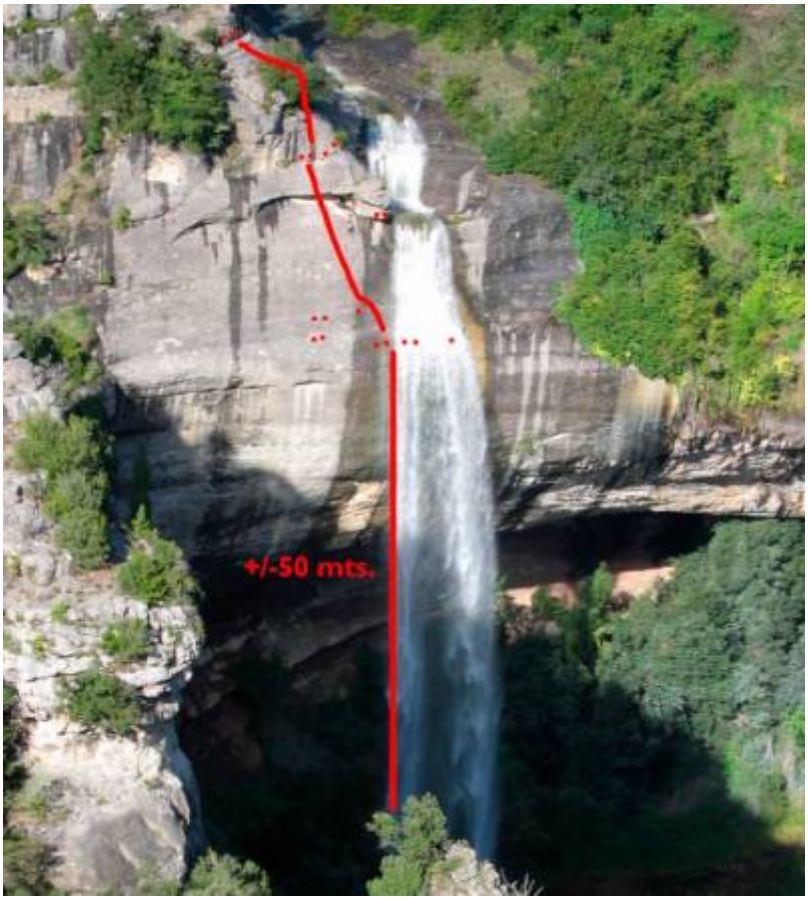

Return: (machine translated)
At the end we will see a stream on the right, we get in here and see a path that goes up the waterfall. Once at the top of the waterfall we go back to the access path.
