Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Conglomerate gorge that leads through a climbing garden in the lower part. Heavily polluted water and lots of wood.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Parking exit: From Tolmezzo in the direction of Verzegnis, after crossing the Tagliamento, you can park near a bunker.
Entry: Take the road up to Chiaulis - cross the bridge and park about 300m further on at a picnic area.

Approach: (machine translated)
Back to the bridge and left down into the streambed

Tour: (machine translated)
Unfortunately, very dirty water through the village above, if then only go immediately after very heavy rainfall. The gorge becomes narrow right away - walk along the concrete socket of a water pipe until you can reach the first belay on the opposite wall. In the first gorge, there are a few swimming passages in heavily polluted water, then a long section in an open valley before the canyon narrows again. This is followed by a few slippery downclimbs and a 22m waterfall (anchor on the right), then another 3m jump before you reach the bridge at the climbing garden. Climb up to the road here or descend further (slippery downclimbs and 1x20m rappel).
