Summary: (machine translated)
Beautiful waterfall of tuff of almost 100m that is born in a small stream that pours on the Hoz de Miñances. Relatively short and comfortable access, the return through the beautiful gorge, leaves us on the road, next to the parking lot. To be done after rains so that the waterfall has water.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Getting to Arenas de Cabrales on the AS-114 road
Towards Panes, almost arriving at p.k. 36, a gentle left turn with a lay-by on the left and a track on the right. Here we park, it is just the exit of the sickle.

Approach: (machine translated)
By the track that leaves from the road and soon we leave it to go up the hillside to the right to some houses above, here we will take the cordal that leads us to link with the track that goes up and takes us to some cabins, after passing them, go left in search of the stream and follow it to the vertical.

Tour: (machine translated)
In the vertical we start on the left, a first natural gets us into the waterfall, the second next to the marmita down to half waterfall, right to a ledge where we have the anchors on the left to, this time, get into the waterfall. we will be careful not to crush the tuff formations.
At the base we follow the riverbed to make the sickle, a beautiful sickle without difficulties except for a rappelable cliff.

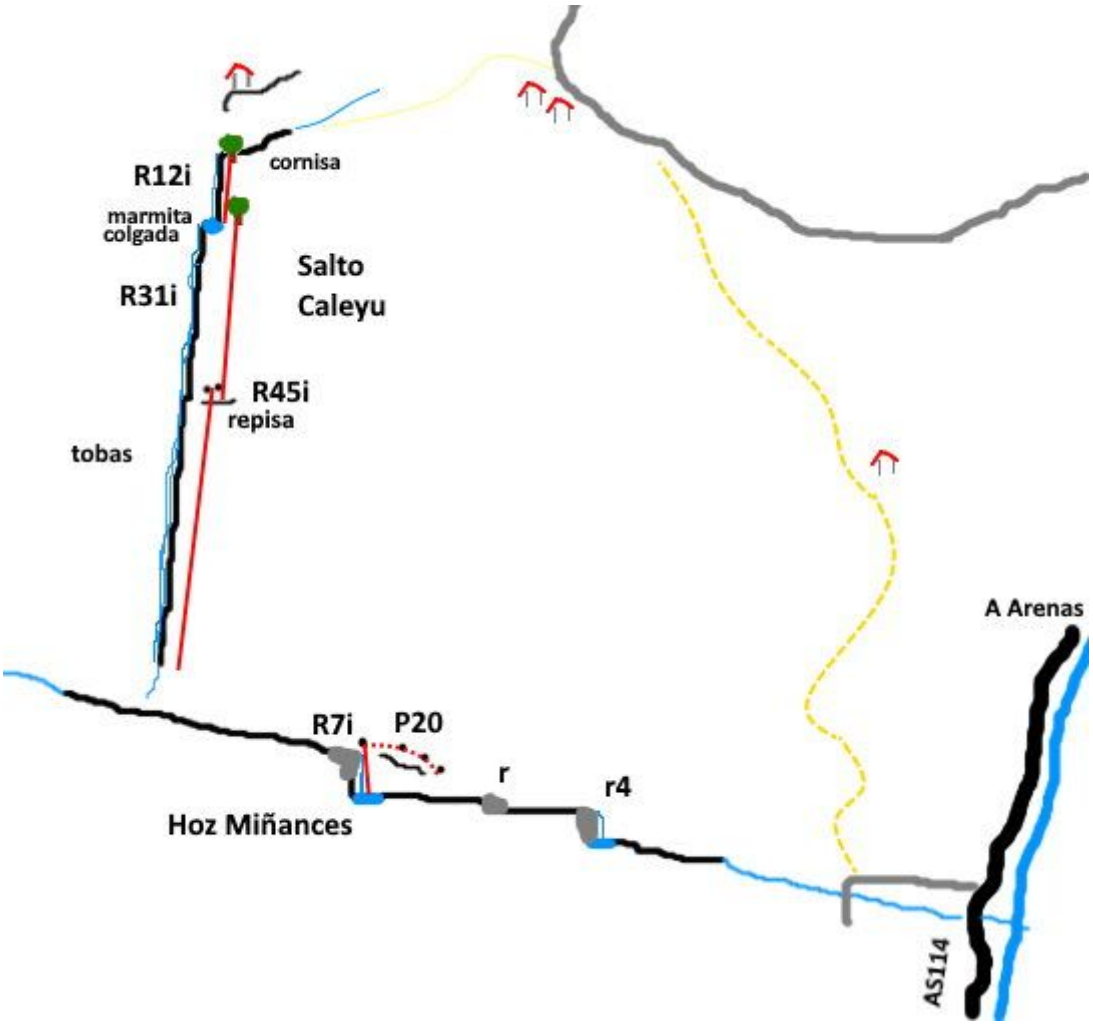

Return: (machine translated)
We will follow the sickle until we can exit to the left to the track, we will follow it to the road.
