Summary:
A short, dry gorge suitable for beginners; can also be tackled as an adventure walk from Lluc using two cars

Hydrology:

Access:
Between Inca and Lluc on the MA-2130
Near the village of Caimari, there is a turn-off for Binibona. We'll head to the village square, which is the best place to park.
We could continue along the narrow road that leads up to the Hotel Albellons, but the areas where we could leave our vehicles aren't the most suitable

Approach:
Just where the track leading up to the Hotel Albellons turns left, we'll leave it to continue straight on alongside the stream bed, then turn right to cross it and head upstream along our stream. You can't go wrong: we'll stay on the left bank of the stream the whole time, then leave it to head up towards the Pas del Setrí. After this pass, the path comes back close to the stream, at which point we'll join the stream bed.

Tour:
A well-formed ravine with some lovely sections, generally dry and featuring plenty of scrambling. Just a handful of abseils of up to 15 metres

Return:
Beyond the dam, the gorge widens and leads onto the access path

Canyon Start 39.8086 2.9179
